

TARIFF REVISION PROGRESS RAPID

UNDERWOOD PREDICTS PRESEN-TATION OF BILL IN HOUSE
NEXT WEDNESDAY.

INCOME TAX PROVISION

Wording of Law Covering Life Insurance Policies Is Made More Explicit By Committee.

Washington, April 18.—The tariff revision bill progressed rapidly in the Democratic caucus of the house today. It was considered simultaneously by a committee of Republican representatives, who agreed to propose amendments. Democratic Leader Underwood tonight predicted that the bill would be brought up in the house next Wednesday.

In the Democratic caucus the ways and means committee majority was sustained at every point during a series of fights over proposed amendments to the income tax, the only important change being a decision to strengthen the provision exempting life insurance policies. The $4,000 exemption and the graduated income tax rates running up to four per cent on $100,000 or more, was retained intact.

The house Republicans in an open conference endorsed the proposed amendment to the bill that would provide for a tariff commission, changed so as to require the committee to report annually, and deferred until Monday action on a proposition to introduce as a Republican amendment the Payne-Hill wool bill that was offered two years ago.

In the meantime the Democrats of the ways and means committee met and agreed upon a number of minor changes in their bill, which will be offered probably late tomorrow to correct defects disclosed in the caucus proceedings, in telegrams and letters to the committee and a renewed study of the bill will be made.

The Democrats have been bombarded with inquiries regarding a clause of the income tax provision intended to exempt life insurance policies.

To avoid complications, the caucus changed the language so as to read "provided the proceeds of life insurance policies paid upon the death of the person insured shall not be included as income."

Representative Sherley of Kentucky, proposed to reduce the incomes from $1,000 to $2,000 and to make incomes of more than $100,000 pay 5 per cent tax on the ground that the bill made too small a majority among the people subject to the tax. Representative Hobson of Alabama wanted to make the minimum $1,000 with a rate of one-half of one per cent between $2,000 and $4,000 and a four per cent rate on incomes between $100,000 and a five per cent rate on incomes above $250,000. Representative Thatcher of Massachusetts figured the minimum at $1,000. All these amendments were voted down.

It was expected tonight that the committee would finish with the bill by tomorrow night or Monday and that the house would take up the bill the middle of the week with passage there before May 1.

The Republican caucus opened with a lively fight over the joint tariff policy in prospect. Representatives Moore of Pennsylvania and Fordney of Michigan, of the Republican representation of the ways and means committee, were on hand with a resolution which would prevent the Republicans taking any constructive steps in the making of the tariff.

Republican Leader Mann and his lieutenants prevented a vote on the resolutions, although Representatives Moore and Fordney endeavored to force action.

"I do not wish to find myself two years from now, if the Democrats have made their mistakes," said Mr. Moore, "bound by some fool action taken here today."

Representative Payne discussed his proposed substitute wool bill at length, declaring it was the most equitable arrangement of duties on wool that could be devised. He said the bill had the endorsement of the tariff board.

Representative Fordney attacked the rates as too low and objected to the conference endorsing any bill. "I am opposed," he said, "to the Republicans presenting any substitute for the rates in the Democratic tariff bill. If we put in a bill now and we are returned to power two years hence, that bill will meet us on the trail like a scare-crow."

Action was postponed until Monday. The caucus adopted an amendment to the income tax provision offered by Representative Hull, which in effect would require insurance companies to pay the proposed one per cent only on their net incomes out of which they declare a dividend to policy holders.

The amendment would require the net income to be ascertained by deducting from the gross amount of income, the net addition, if any, required by law to be made within the years to reserve funds and sums other than dividends of return of premium payments made within the year on policy annuity contracts.

PORTER CHARLTON IN FINAL PLEA

SEEKS IN COURT OF LAST RE-
SORT TO RESIST REMOVAL

TO FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER

Effect of the Existing Treaty Is Being Discussed—Can Court Overrule State Department?

Washington, April 18.—A final appeal was made today in the supreme court of the United States by Porter Charlton, the American youth charged with the murder of his wife on their honeymoon at Lake Como, Italy, on June 7, 1910, in an effort to block the demand of the Italian government that he be returned to its shores for trial. There was no decision today.

Charlton himself was not in court. Ever since he arrived from Italy he has been imprisoned in Hudson county. The extradition case came before the court today on an appeal from the refusal of the New Jersey court to release him on habeas corpus proceedings after the state department had decided to turn him over to Italian authorities.

Questions by the court steered the opposing attorneys to a consideration of whether the court has the right to go behind the action of former Secretary Knox of the state department. Attorney H. Floyd Clarke told the court that the Italian government had for thirty years interpreted the extradition treaty to mean that it was not required to surrender to the United States its subjects for trial in the United States. This refusal, he contended, was a breach of the treaty.

"Congress had the right to act in regard to this breach, but any attempt of the executive to go behind the action of the state department is an attempt to exercise an arbitrary discretion which, under our constitution, is forbidden him," declared Mr. Clarke.

Chief Justice White suggested that the correspondence between the Italian government and the state department showed that the Italian government expressly stated that it did not demand Charlton under the treaty, but upon special grounds.

Justice Pitney pointed out that the Italian government in a subsequent letter did place the demand upon the treaty. Justice Day turned to Secretary Knox's opinion granting the extradition to show that the secretary stated that he acted in pursuance of the treaty.

"That is the final word, is it not?" inquired the justice, himself once secretary of state and a "trustee."

Attorney Pierre Garven, for the Italian government, took the position that Charlton's attorney was seeking to have the court declare a treaty was not in existence which the executive branch of the government said was in existence and under which it was acting.

Charlton's attorney referred to the claim that Charlton should have been permitted to show at the extradition hearing that he was insane at the time the offense was committed. Mr. Garven argued that the hearing was held in the presence of a "board of inquiry," and under the law governing the case, the law of New Jersey, defenses could not be considered as "preliminary hearings."

PEERLESS ONE AND SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK BURY HATCHET AT AN ARRANGED DINNER

Washington, April 18.—Speaker Champ Clark and Secretary William Jennings Bryan met at a private luncheon here today, shook hands and issued public statements, declaring they had buried the hatchet and put the personalities of the Baltimore convention with the by-gones. The luncheon was arranged by Theodore Bell of California, temporary chairman of the Denver convention in 1905, and chairman of the California delegation supporting Speaker Clark at Baltimore, and was given by Ira E. Bennett, editor of the Washington Post.

Intense interest was aroused in political circles over the reconciliation of the two antagonists, whose differences became acute as a result of events at the Baltimore convention. Secretary Bryan's proposed statement issued tonight is as follows:

Bryan's Statement.

"My meeting with Mr. Clark has served to clear up a misunderstanding as to my exact position toward him at the Baltimore convention. I am glad to make it clear to Mr. Clark that I have always regarded, and do now regard him as a good, clean progressive Democrat. If my language at Baltimore created the impression that I was charging Mr. Clark with being in sympathy with any of the reactionary forces, I am glad of the opportunity to correct myself, for I did not intend to reflect on either the personal or political integrity of Mr. Clark. It is my wish that there may be cordial co-operation between the state department and the speaker in carrying out the policies of the administration."

Speaker Clark's Statement.
"It is beyond the power of Colonel Bryan or anyone else to correct the injustice that was done to me at Baltimore. The loss of the presidential

OVERTHROWS THE ADMINISTRA-TION OF MRS. SCOTT IN HIS-TORIC SOCIETY.

SHE PLEADS FOR HARMONY

Ends a Hard Campaign in Which the Organization Has Been Divided.

Washington, April 18.—Mrs. Wm. Cummings Story of New York, head of the conservative faction, late today was elected president general of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, defeating Mrs. John Miller Horton, the liberal, the administration candidate, on the third ballot. The vote stood: Mrs. Story 609, Mrs. Horton 449.

Seven vice president generals were elected to complete the complement of new general officers. They were: Mrs. Thomas Kite of Ohio, Mrs. Rhett Goode of Alabama, Mrs. John Swift of California, Mrs. Allen P. Perley of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Ben F. Gray of Missouri, Miss Harriett L. Lake of Iowa, and Mrs. John Lee Diddle of Indiana.

The vice president generals were elected on the first ballot. The election was announced about 5:30 o'clock and the successful candidate was escorted to the platform. She was greeted by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, retiring president general, and made a speech. She made a plea for harmony and urged all the new general officers to do their utmost to bring peace between the factions that have waged an almost continuous warfare for the last five years.

Pledge Loyal Support.

Before closing her remarks Mrs. Story introduced Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, who withdrew as a contestant today before the third ballot was begun. Mrs. Bryan had been known as an administration sympathizer, but she pledged loyalty and support to the incoming administration. She was greeted by the new general officers and all pledged their support to Mrs. Story.

The election resulted in a partial victory for the anti-administration forces in that more than half the general officers and all of the new supporters of Mrs. Story. Mrs. Story did not place a complete ticket of vice presidents general in the field, and none of the four she put forward was elected. Of the general officers on her ticket only four were chosen on the first ballot.

The election of Mrs. Story ends a hard campaign. She was defeated by Mrs. Scott in the last two elections. The contest has been the most spirited in the history of the society, and has been exceedingly expensive for the candidates and the society.

Several valuable gifts were given to Mrs. Story, and there were a number of presentations to the national society. Mrs. Scott was elected honorary president general, an honor held only by five former presidents of the society.

The congress will adjourn tomorrow. When Mrs. Story made her appearance upon the stage at tonight's meeting she was given a tremendous ovation. In a brief address to the Daughters Mrs. Story expressed gratification.

Condition at Midnight.

When Dr. Amici visited the pope shortly before midnight he found his temperature at 99.2. He said the condition of the patient was satisfactory and that he was finding great relief from his cough by taking a soothing liquor of ammonia, flavored with amaretto. After Dr. Amici's visit, Pope Pius went to sleep. His breathing was audible in the room on account of his catarrh.

Prof. Marchisavia was asked by the Associated Press tonight concerning the condition of his patient. In writing he replied:

"The holy father has suffered from influenza with a slight affection of the trachea and larger bronchial tubes. Bronchopneumonia has never been suspected. His general condition always has been of the best. His heart and pulse are strong and normal and the sensorial nerves intact."

It must be added, however, that although Prof. Marchisavia says in his statement what he truly believes, in his statement he is in a stage now, but is always liable to occur. This is a gouty kidney.

The better condition of the pope is shown by his increasing interest in affairs. Today he insisted on conveying his last instructions to Cardinal Ferrata, who will leave tomorrow for Malta to preside at the eucharistic congress. He desired to know what arrangements had been made concerning the pontifical mass which he was to celebrate in St. Peter's on Pentecost three weeks away. This day is intended to be a great one in the festivities of the Constantinian jubilee and it was with great difficulty that he was induced to postpone the ceremony to November when the end of the jubilee will take place.

Cameron Makes Bond.

Columbus, Ohio, April 18.—Former State Treasurer Isaac B. Cameron gave bond today on an indictment charging him with having made illegal uses of state funds. The indictment grows out of the investigation into the affairs of the Columbus Savings and Trust company.

They were informed that babies were shipped out of the state when only a few hours old and their mothers were hired out to nurse the infants of the wealthy.

Superintendents of maternity homes admitted they kept no records, that once a child was sent away there was nothing by which it could be traced.

"But don't you ever inquire how these babies are treated? Do they live or die?" inquired Chairman Curran of Dr. Charles S. Wood of the Union Park Maternity Home.

"We keep no records at all," the testimony brought out the fact that 85 per cent of the unmarried patients in the "lying-in" hospital are girls from out of the state who come to the city to hide their shame. The heads of the homes said they had advertised extensively that they had babies for adoption, but that such advertisements are bluffs. They asserted the demand for infants exceeded the supply.

Dr. Wood said that in twelve years there have been 665 patients in his hospital, and denied there ever had been a death. When the committee showed him the records of the city health department in which four still births had been reported, he changed his testimony. He insisted no crippled children had been born.

The doctor said he had spent $1000 in advertising, mostly in weekly publications. A physician from the health department testified that Wood's hospital was insanitary and he would recommend that it be closed.

Liberal Leader Makes Appeal to Opponents of Suffrage.

Brussels, April 18.—While it is yet premature to hope for an early settlement of the great strike that is paralyzing the economic life of Belgium, efforts made today by M. After considerable discussion the chamber adjourned until Tuesday on motion of the premier.

During this interval the various parties will carefully examine into the motion of the liberal deputy, M. Meson, which embodies the elements of a compromise.

Instructions.

Rome, April 18.—The consoling news that emanated from the Vatican tonight was that Pope Pius had passed three days without fever, that his general condition was progressing favorably and that if these conditions continued for two days more his illness would be considered convalescent. Although this information came from the physicians in attendance and was confirmed by Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, it did not prevent persons of pessimistic tendencies from continuing to shake their heads dubiously and inventing ailments for the pontiff. Tonight they declared he was suffering from patchy pneumonia and senile consumption.

This morning's bulletin, issued by Prof. Marchisavia and Dr. Amici after their usual consultation at the pope's bedside was as follows:

"There is further amelioration of the pontiff's catarrhal trouble and bronchial affection. His general condition is also more satisfactory today. His temperature this morning was 97. His temperature this morning was 97. His temperature this morning was 97."

WILSON WATCHES THE ALIEN LAW

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CAN MAKE NO MOVE PENDING ITS PASSAGE.

DOES IT TRANSCEND TREATY?

That Is the Question to Be Decided.
California Waits a Week to Hear
From Washington.

Washington, April 18.—President Wilson kept in close touch today with the situation that has arisen over the proposed alien law legislation. He read with interest dispatches from Tokyo describing popular feeling there against the bills and studied the text of the pending measures, as well as a synopsis of similar laws in New York and Texas.

The president told his callers that the federal government must of necessity refrain from interference with California, while in the process of legislation, and it is not to make known its attitude to inquiring nations until the bills are passed. He added, however, that if any impression had been circulated in Japan that the administration here had become indifferent to the developments in California, such a view was unjustified and that judgment should be withheld until the measures are finally framed and passed.

In the meantime the president declared that every effort was being made to keep in communication informally with the California legislature. It is unlikely that the president will communicate his views directly or take any step that will interfere with the legislative process, but he hopes through members of congress here to do his utmost to prevent any obvious violation of treaty obligations. Should treaty rights be violated, he is hopeful that Japan will withhold judgment until the American courts have dealt with the case.

Outbreaks Are Unwarranted.

Government officials look upon the outbreaks in Tokyo as unwarranted at this time, as the federal government fully intends to give Japanese residents every protection and privilege accorded foreigners under the favored nation principle of its treaties.

At the same time diplomatic circles here are alive to the situation and some of the more prominent embassies and legations have been ordered to keep their governments advised of every action. Prof. Marchisavia from Italy, which it is believed might be followed by more from other nations as to the restrictions on aliens, excited much comment among the diplomats, but attention was mostly drawn to the existing alliances between Japan and the great powers, which might be affected in case of a breach between Japan and the United States.

May Be Jap Cabinet Crisis.

Some of the diplomats suggested that it was possible the present Japanese cabinet might be swept from power through the present agitation and in the hope of placating popular clamor a new administration might issue a more emphatic protest or ultimatum to the Washington government.

White house officials declare their relations with the Japanese government through the ambassador have been most friendly and that the peculiarities of the situation are fully understood.

Because of the intimation from Tokyo that along with a demand for naturalization rights for Japanese would come a demand for the present Japanese government to apply in Japan of what is known as the "law relating to foreigners' right of ownership in land."

Japan Has An Alien Law.

The text of that law is attracting much attention here.

LANE'S ATTITUDE FORCES A VETO

REFUSES TO ACCEPT LAW OF-
FICE'S OPINION OF THE 9:30
CIVIL STATUTE.

EXECUTIVE HITS IT WITH AXE

Declares the Comptroller Refuses to Act in Harmony—Criminal Statute Requires Closing.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The ninety-third closing bill (civil) fell by the wayside this morning when Governor Colquitt applied the blue pencil to the measure that has been lying on his desk since the close of the session. The bill has been in the hands of the attorney general for an opinion and this was delivered to the governor about ten days ago.

Inasmuch as the comptroller is vested with the power in the civil bill to pass upon the applications of saloon keepers for licenses, and since numerous errors of a clerical nature are in the bill, the opinion of the attorney general that the intentions of the law, rather than the exact wording of the law, would apply did not meet with the approval of the comptroller.

Veto In Full.

The veto of the governor in full is as follows:

To the Secretary of State:

Senate bill No. 88 defines the purpose of same in its caption, which reads as follows:

AN ACT to amend Articles 7455, 7452, 7451 and 7452 of the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, so as to provide for fixing the hours of opening and closing any house or place of business where intoxicating liquors are licensed to be sold, and to provide for the closing of such places of business between the hours of 9:30 p. m. on Saturday night and 6 a. m. of the following Monday morning; and between the hours of 9:30 p. m. and 6 o'clock a. m. of the following Monday morning, and authorizing recovery upon the bond and forfeiture of license of retail liquor dealers violating any penal law of this state relating to retail liquor dealers.

In some way in the passage, enforcement or enforcement of the bill errors crept into the measure. In Article 7455, which provides and sets out a blank form of application to be made by a liquor dealer of this state to the comptroller for a permit and license to engage in the business of liquor dealer, the applicant for such license is made to swear that he has not sold or authorized any other person to sell or permitted them to sell liquor at his place of business after 12 o'clock midnight on Saturday and between the hours of 9:30 p. m. on the following Monday or any week, since the first day of May A. D. 1909.

The present statute authorizes liquor dealers to keep their places of business open until 12 o'clock midnight on Saturday, and to reopen them at 5 o'clock a. m. of the following Monday morning, and to keep their places of business open until 12 o'clock midnight each day in the week and to open them at 5 o'clock a. m. of the following morning. It appears therefore that a liquor dealer could not comply with the requirements set forth in the application for a license, and in other articles of the bill.

Asks Law Office's Advice.

Being earnestly desirous that this act should become a law, I referred the bill to the attorney general, who is a conscientious and painstaking lawyer. He made in harmony with the line of court decision, and in line with the constitution, and in line with the caption of the bill determines its purpose, and says that the bill should be construed with another act passed by the regular session of the Thirtieth legislature, which amends Article 615, Title 11 of Chapter 8 of the penal code so as to read as follows:

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

That Article 615, Title 11, Chapter 8 of the Penal Code of the State of Texas, Revised Criminal Statutes of 1911, be and the same is hereby amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Article 615. Time for opening and closing doors. Every person who, after having a license who may be engaged in the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises in any locality of this state other than where local option is in force shall close and keep closed their houses and places of business and transact no business therein or therefrom from and after 9:30 o'clock p. m. until 6 o'clock a. m. of each week day, and shall close and keep closed their houses and places of business and transact no business therein or therefrom from and after 9:30 o'clock p. m. on Saturday until 6 o'clock a. m. of the following Monday of each week, and any such person or firm or his or their agents or employee who shall open or keep open or permit to open or permit to be opened or kept open any such house or place of business, for the purpose of traffic or who shall sell or barter any intoxicating liquor or permit to be transacted therein or therefrom any such business, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

COLQUITT VETOS NEW COURT CREATED FOR M'LENNAN COUNTY, SAYING IT IS NOT NECESSARY

Austin, April 18.—Governor Colquitt this afternoon vetoed the McLenahan county court bill by Torrell. He said:

"As required by section 14 of article 4 of the constitution, I am filing the senate bill No. 184, an act to create a special district court for McLenahan county, to prescribe its jurisdiction, etc., with the secretary of state, without approval, and make herewith explanation of my objections thereto."

"McLenahan county now has two district courts—one sits all the year around and the other for about six months in the year. The jurisdiction of the judge of this district is given to the trial of cases in McLenahan county, according to the report of the district clerk there were sixty criminal and forty-nine civil cases on the docket of this court at the end of the last term. Of these, thirty-seven criminal and twenty civil cases were tried, and at the time the report was made there were twenty-three criminal and fifty-seven civil cases pending on the docket of the Fifty-fourth district court, whereas in Falls county there were twenty-six criminal and sixty civil cases pending at the time of the report."

The statement is made by the district clerk that there are some 400 divorce cases and tax suits pending in this court. The presumption is that the district court is a needless expense. "It does not appear to me from the statement of the docket of these two courts in McLenahan county that a third is necessary. I do not feel justified, therefore, in approving the bill. With the judicial reform laws already passed by the thirty-third legislature, it is believed that with sworn benchmen suits which are filed for the purpose of forcing compromises, will be obviated in the future, and it is well known that there are always many of what are known as 'dead cases' pending on the docket of the district courts that are liable to be dismissed at any time for want of prosecution."

The bill is vetoed on the ground that it is not necessary, and it behooves us to avoid the expense of additional courts where they are not needed."

"The Fifty-fourth district is com-

can grant or withhold a license, according to his own interpretation of the law under which he may be acting. About the time the attorney general advised me that the bill could be safely approved and the errors in the body of the bill would have to yield to the meaning expressed in the caption and to harmonize with the criminal statute above quoted, the comptroller of public accounts was quoted in the newspapers as making the following statement:

If the provisions were ambiguous I would accept the opinion of the attorney general. Where the language is plain I need no opinion to guide me. I am capable of reading the law as it is clearly written. If this bill is approved applicants for saloon license must certainly make affidavit that they have closed at midnight and continued closed until 6 o'clock the following morning. Otherwise no license will be issued. If that is the law, it will be rigidly enforced by me.

Asks Comptroller His Attitude.
Upon adding the foregoing statement I addressed a letter to the comptroller, asking him whether or not he was correctly quoted, and if the statement made represented his views and purposes, to which he made an evasive reply, stating he would not say definitely what he would do until he had seen a certified copy of the bill and of the attorney general's opinion. His attitude in the matter is characteristic and indicates a disinclination to co-operate with the executive departments of the state government in a harmonious administration and interpretation of the law.

In view of this attitude of the comptroller and for the further reason that I can see no good purpose to be subserved by raising a row later on over the interpretation of this act by the party upon whom the duty of enforcing same devolves, I have concluded to file this bill with the secretary of state without my approval, for the reason that the comptroller seems disinclined to co-operate with the governor and the attorney general and other officials of the state government in giving a harmonious interpretation of the law and co-operate with them in its enforcement.

Special Session May Correct It.

Senate bill No. 88, which is herewith vetoed on account of the clerical errors therein and for the reasons already given, would not take effect until July 1, and a special session of the legislature has been called to convene July 21, at which time I will submit the question of amending the civil statute so as to require all saloons in the state to close at 9:30 p. m. each evening in the week and to close at 9:30 p. m. Saturday and remain closed until 6 the following Monday morning. The amendment to the criminal statute passed by the regular session of the Thirty-third legislature will go into effect on July 1, and from that date forward every saloon in the state will be required to close its doors at 9:30 p. m. each day in the week and remain closed until 6 o'clock the following morning, and if any saloon proprietor or person in charge of same shall violate this law he will be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of $50 to $200 for each day he violates the law, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. This will substantially secure the purpose of the bill which is hereby disapproved on account of the clerical errors it contains and the attitude of the comptroller with reference thereto, and at the special session of the legislature, the civil statute can be amended so as to harmonize with the provision of the penal code above cited.

Due proclamation is, therefore, hereby made of the reasons for disapproving senate bill No. 88 and filed with the secretary of state, as required by section 14 of article 4 of the constitution. Yours truly,

O. B. COLQUITT,
Governor of Texas.

Comptroller W. P. Lane, because of whose attitude the governor objected regarding the 9:30 civil closing bill and vetoed that measure, left here today before the veto of the governor had been announced. He will return in the morning and is expected to make a statement with regard to the action of the governor.

WILSON WATCHES ALIEN LAW

much attention here. Its application heretofore has been very loose and there are large holdings of land by foreigners, including Americans, in many of the places prohibited to them. The laws say:

"Article 1.—Foreigners domiciled or resident in Japan and alien design persons registered therein shall enjoy the right of ownership in land, provided that always in the countries to which they belong such right is extended to Japanese subjects and Japanese juridical persons, and provided further, in case of foreign juridical persons, that they shall obtain permission from the minister for home affairs for the acquisition of such ownership.

"The foregoing provisions shall be applicable only to foreigners and foreign juridical persons belonging to the countries to be designated by imperial ordinance.

"Article 2.—Foreigners and foreign juridical persons cannot enjoy the right of ownership of land in the following districts:

"1. Hokkaido (Yezo); 2. Fomokai; 3. Karafuto (Sakhalin); 4. Districts necessary for national defense. The districts coming under No. 4 of the preceding paragraph shall be designated by imperial ordinance."

It is said that under this last provision, No. 4, much of Japanese territory desired by foreign business houses and corporations has been barred to them.

CALIFORNIA DEFERS ACTION.

Pending More of Protest Bill Goes Over a Week.

Sacramento, Cal., April 18.—Further action on the anti-alien land bill pending before the California legislature has been deferred until next week. This decision was reached, it was said today, because some word was expected from Washington in relation to the protest of the Japanese government against possible infringement of the treaty rights of Japanese citizens in this state.

Reports of the popular agitation in Japan provoked considerable comment about the legislative chambers today. The passage of these protests, as well as inquiries as to the effect of the proposed bills upon other alien interests in California, led to the belief here that President Wilson might find it expedient to indicate his views or suggest a course of action tending to relieve the situation.

Waiting to Hear From Washington.
"If the position taken by Japan is what cable dispatches contain," said one of the senate leaders today, "it seems inevitable that some word must come from Washington soon without waiting for the passage of a particular bill by the legislature."

For that reason and in view of the widespread interest that has sprung up in California, it was thought better to postpone any further consideration of the matter until next week.

The postponement applies also to the various amendments to the bills that have been offered.

A poll of the senate today disclosed an overwhelming majority in favor of an anti-alien bill, but scarcely a handful of senators indicated a wish to include in its provisions foreigners or foreign corporations controlled by persons eligible to citizenship.

The campaign in behalf of European investments in the state, it was stated, had begun to be reflected in the change of opinion among members in this regard.

General Bill Will Not Pass.
According to Senator Thompson, who drafted the original committee substitute, in the senate, the only bill acceptable to the Japanese would be one placing all aliens on a par.

A poll of the house shows that such a law could not be passed now.

In case no word comes from Washington it is regarded as certain here that a law directed almost solely against the Japanese will be passed with clauses exempting all European corporations. Only seven members of the senate have declared themselves against such a bill.

Senator Caminetti, a Democratic leader, does not expect President Wilson or Secretary Bryan to take any part in the controversy until the legislature has acted upon a particular bill and it has gone to the governor for his signature.

President Wilson, having expressed his belief that this subject was one within the jurisdiction of a state to deal with, I do not anticipate any objections from him or the state department," said Caminetti tonight. "Until we act and pass a law there would be no way to determine whether we exceeded our jurisdiction."

Scores of telegrams presenting arguments both for and against the bills were received today. Many chambers of commerce throughout the state have wired objections to the bill.

On the other hand letters received from farmers in sections where Japanese have settled, urge that leases to run four or five years will make the law worthless.

JAPAN WANTS TO RESENT.

Will Enforce the Anti-Alien Law of 1910.

Tokio, April 18.—The Japanese government considers the present anti-Japanese movement in California as most dangerous and is faced with the prospect of placing itself in a most unwelcome position, owing to the unwillingness of the federal government at Washington to intervene and the impossibility of introducing counter measures here.

In the event of the passage of the California alien land holding bill through both houses of the legislature Japan will issue an imperial ordinance enforcing the Japanese foreign land ownership bill of 1910 and will apply to the federal government at Washington for permission for the Japanese to become naturalized citizens of the United States. At the mass meeting of protest here last night there was a hysterical anti-American outburst. Deputy Matsura urged the despatch of a Japanese fleet to California as a first step toward establishing Japan on an absolutely equal footing in the United States.

Words Alone Don't Count

"Flourishes on a signature do not make the name good on the check."

Somebody that got stung wrote that. Wonder if he knew anything about the prescription business. Must have.

Money in the bank behind the name—work behind the words—these alone count.

We have given work and money to make our prescription department unique in the state of Texas.

Negro Industrial School Conference Hears Some Good Advice On Important Subject.

New York, April 18.—The conference of rural industrial schools for negroes of the south was told today that so many new institutions had been established to help the southern negro that the present system of raising funds had broken down. Confederation was the remedy suggested. The delegates agreed upon the principle of a clearing house for information concerning the needs of individual schools, but there was some disagreement over the question of territorial division of the country in a national scheme for raising money.

Clarence H. Kelsey of New York, from the Hamilton school, who made the principal address, said that at the schools were using the same group of wealthy men, and that these benefactors were becoming weary of steady appeals.

Richmond, Va., April 18.—Robert C. Ogden of New York was re-elected president of the conference for education in the south at the closing session tonight, despite his telegram urging that he be retired to the ranks of the organization. Walter H. Page, ambassador to Great Britain, declined to serve again as vice president in view of the fact that he is to spend the next four years abroad, and Frank R. Chambers of New York was elected to succeed him. Dr. S. C. Mitchell of Virginia was chosen second vice president, this being a newly created office.

Mrs. Fleming is the first vice president of the Federation of Women's Clubs and is acting on behalf of the president, Mrs. Eli Hertzberg, whose recent bereavement deprives her of attending the convention.

THE SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR THIS SATURDAY

The Euterpean club meets with Miss Nettie Autrey on North Fourteenth. Mrs. Foster Fort entertains for Miss Berta Mackey at half past 4 o'clock. Mrs. H. K. Brewer entertains for Miss Berta Mackey.

Mrs. Pearl Walker Yates will be at home Thursday.

In recognition of the visits from both her sisters, the Mesdames Agnes Oliver and Constance Haymore, Mrs. Pearl Walker Yates will be at home on next Thursday afternoon after 5 o'clock. No formal invitations will be extended, but Mrs. Yates hopes to welcome all former friends of the household.

MARRIAGE OF MISS ALLISON IS TO BE MONDAY

Mrs. J. E. Allison announces the marriage of her daughter, Annie, to Mr. Lee Holloway Monday at 2:30 p. m. at her residence on West Columbus street. The wedding will be a simple service with only the home circle and immediate friends present. The bride and groom will leave immediately after the ceremony for San Antonio.

WEDDING OF INTEREST TAKES PLACE AT BATTLE

A simple yet effective ceremony which united the lives of Miss Mamie Jones of Waco and Samuel Brooks took place at Battle. This was a very quiet affair, witnessed only by relatives and a few friends. The young bride, a graduate of the Waco high school of the class of '10, formerly a resident of this city, but recently moved to Battle, has many friends here. The bridegroom, who is now in the military service, is a native of Battle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Allison, pastor of the Baptist church at Battle. The couple will leave for their home in Battle, Texas.

THE CATHOLIC STUDY CLUB WITH MRS. PEARL YATES

Another, and one of the best attended sessions of the Catholic Study Club came with Mrs. Pearl Walker Yates the hostess. The afternoon session was devoted to the life, martyrdom and work of Saint Stephen, the saint who was stoned to death and who did so much to reform the errors which had crept into the monasteries. Mrs. Yates brought out several Catholic pictures, the immaculate conception, the Virgin's Assumption, one of the Correggio Madonnas, and the study drifted towards these. The famous Visitation brought forth the Bible reading of the Virgin's "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," also the picture of the Virgin as traditionally painted by Saint Luke. In all, the hour was full of interest. About sixteen were present.

A VISITING MATRON HAS CARD COMPLIMENT

As one of the special welcomes as a guest from Mexico, Mrs. Arthur Harris, who visits Mrs. William Early, was paid the compliment of morning bridge by Mrs. Irvin Colgin. This was a coming together by invitation of a company of young matrons, so young as to include the very latest brides. It was a most enjoyable affair, and a very pleasant hour. The two favors, a pair of pretty hat pins and a summer fan, fell to Mrs. William Early and to Mrs. Harry Holmes of Houston. To meet Mrs. Harris under these agreeable conditions Mrs. Colgin invited the Mesdames Merchant Colgin, Sidney Burrows, J. D. Willis, Harvey Penland, William Early, T. E. Jarman, Adrian Moore, Michelle Carter, Bob Killough and Leslie Gardner.

MISS ROBERTA EARLY FOR BACHELOR MAIDS

For the first time the Bachelor Maids had the pleasure of playing with their new member, Miss Roberta Early. And, more, Miss Early afforded the club a very pleasant game. Her prizes were a hand-painted Japanese picture and a much coveted pair of pink silk boudoir slippers. These were won by the Misses Louise Baker and Lydia Clinton. The salad plate formed the refreshment feature, during which it was decided that the next game should come with Miss Louise Baker out at Jacklinton. Invited to join the club for this afternoon were Mrs. T. E. Jarman, with the Misses Camille Webb from Albany, Rebecca McKenna from Fort Worth, Ellen Harden and Mary Carter.

THE MAIDS AND MATRONS WITH MRS. M. D. BAKER

When the Maids and Matrons assembled for their weekly game of five hundred they had the pleasurable surprise of two additional tables which had been provided by the hostess, Mrs. M. D. Baker. A third game, however, had also been provided. The leading score for the guest, also for the club, was recognized by a pair of hand-trimmed guest towels. They were won by the Mesdames R. T. Telle and Shel Sparks. The consolation was a boudoir cap, which was given to Mrs. H. C. Wingo. The game was played amid some pleasing attentions from the hostess, and some pretty room touches in token of her afternoon with guests. The next game comes with Mrs. Pio Crespi. Miss Sophie May Lambdin of Georgia was the only out-of-town guest with Mrs. Baker.

CARDS WITH MRS. CARROLL WHO HAS CLUB AND GUESTS

In deferring their accustomed Tuesday game of bridge, the Young Married Ladies found a charming hostess in Mrs. Edwin Carroll on Thursday. Mrs. Carroll's well known taste and grace makes her guests always feel that something of the unusual is to accompany an invitation into her home. The entertainment of her club seven by special invitation were present. There were the Mesdames Arthur Harris of Mexico, H. J. Spangle, A. W. Koch, A. V. Cross, J. W. Ass, Besz, Ficklen and Loretta Reeves. The head prize was pronounced the prettiest ever given in the club. It was a fancy basket holder to a crystal vase from which strayed the carnation in natural blossom. The consolation gave the first summer fan, it being won by Mrs. A. V. Cross. The refreshment plate showed dainties in keeping with the other features in Mrs. Carroll's compliment to her club. The next hostess is Mrs. Irvin Colgin.

THE LITERARY CLUB HOLDS BUSINESS SESSION

While accepting the hospitality of Mrs. William Edmond, who for so long had been a member, the Literary club held only the annual business session. The affairs of the year were closed, in membership, in finances, and in the last discussion over the program for the coming year's study. Then came the election of a new roster of officers. There was no program and no guests. There will be one more meeting with Mrs. Forest Goodman and then the outing at Jacklinton. Mrs. J. B. Powell, who has made so acceptable a president that the club will permit no successor, reported every cent due the club collected, all bills paid, and a balance in the bank sufficient to defray the expense of the new year books. The new president is Mrs. J. W. Grand, the vice-presidents the Mesdames Mattie D. Willis and H. K. Brewer, the recording secretary Mrs. William Sleeper, the corresponding secretary Mrs. Albert Boggs, and the treasurer Mrs. J. B. Powell. Three resignations were received, those of the Mesdames William Edmond, Mitchell Nash and Lorraine Rogers. Elected to enter the club were the Mesdames Edgar Witt, William Early and J. N. Gallagher. The accustomed social close of the session was interrupted owing to several having accepted the invitation to call upon Mrs. Edward Marshall.

MRS. MOSS AND MRS. FERGUSON ARE AT HOME TO FRIENDS

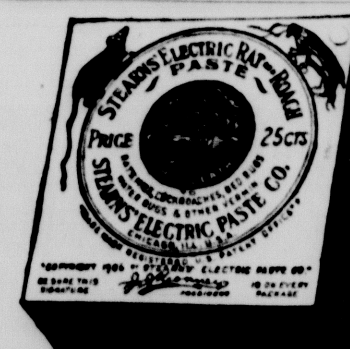

In return courtesy for the social attentions paid them during the now waning winter, and in order that the hospitality of their home might be formally extended to other friends, the Mesdames W. S. Ferguson and D. K. Moss were at home to invited guests during the late hours of Thursday. The tasteful arrangement of the company rooms paid patronage to the spring blossoms, both of fragrance and beauty. The formal in detail was reached, yet the informal as regards the pleasure and the genuine warm welcome was involved, so that the seventy-five guests lingered and complimented. The blue bonnet porch was the first glimpse into the rooms. Entering, two tiny misses in Marguerite Clements and Frances Collier, were at the door. Some of the house party were in parlor, others in hallway, and still others at the punch bowl all a cordial, attractive group. Carnations were freely used both on table and mantle, their pink tone being repeated in candle and shade. These with graceful foliage to impart the cool effect were remarked as of exceedingly tasteful setting. The refreshment program only a welcome return word of pleasantness, a lingering among agreeable company, the enjoyment of an ice with angel food square, and an au revoir to two popular hostesses. In the house party the Mesdames Moss and Ferguson had detained the Mesdames O. E. Arbuckle, Robert Grubbs, T. E. Clement, John Sleeper, R. B. Killough, Bertrand Witt, with the Misses Minnie Killough, Helen Arbuckle, Fulkerson of Grandview, Jenkins of Bartlett, Susie Sleeper.

MRS. EDWARD MARSHALL HAS TWO HUNDRED GUESTS

The presence in the city of two matrons whom she desired to compliment was the inspiration to Mrs. Edward Marshall for a beautiful tea in compliment to Mrs. Gilbert Hay of Houston and Mrs. Florence Craig Whitney of New York City. Both these attractive matrons spent their childhood days in Waco, hence Mrs. Marshall's compliment was their happy opportunity to greet old friends. It was the happy privilege, too, of those invited to receive such delightful hospitality and to extend the hand of welcome back to the old home. This was a society tea, composed principally of matrons, one of those cozy affairs where some one was at each turn for an exchange of small talk. Several from out of town, guests in the homes of those invited, were present. Mrs. Marshall provided musicians, and made one of her pretty tables for the refreshment features. She received formally with her two honorees and their hostesses. Other than this, the hour was semi-formal. The table was matted with a crystal cover under which the electric glow of pink was seen, a very pleasing effect. This was hooded above by the accustomed table shade in a soft green crowned with white bulbs. Thus, with the exception of a few natural flowers tastefully disposed amid their own foliage, the electric effect made the table picture. In handsome crystal and silver were the angel squares, the almonds, and the sandwiches as according to the hostess, cooling crystal cup. In all, two hundred were bidden to meet the Mesdames Hay and Whitney, enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Marshall, be greeted cordially by her house party and enjoy the passing compliments with guests. Mrs. Marshall invited to remain with her through the two hours Miss Kate Edmond, with the Mesdames John Marshall, George Zizina, Quitman Finley, Louise Madden Brown, Robert Nelson, Ben Gray Kendall, William Waldo, Compton, Clonier, Hamilton, Sidney Burrows, Bart Moore, Allan Sanford, William Breustedt, William Neale, Erwin Clarke, John R. McNamara.

Mackey wedding, the groom's father, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lewis of Dallas, Miss Rose Nelson of Corsicana, Mrs. Pearl Mackey Lowe of Weatherford, Mrs. C. J. Quillion of Dallas.

The Rose Mound, which is to be the new home of Mrs. Alfred Abel is assuming proportions which will make it the most complete, picturesque residence in all Waco.

Plans are now under discussion for a new home over which Mrs. Allan Sanford will preside on West Austin. There will be no reserved seats for the marriage of Miss Berta Mackey and L. A. Brooks on Wednesday evening.

We must all lay aside all that loud coloring known as Bulgarian when the real warm days arrive. It was intended only for the incoming spring, yet will hold nicely at a cool mountain home.

Now that the old spring is reclaimed, why not all the women unite and place some tablets upon local historic spots? Waco has more than the usual place of her size. These tablets with their inscriptions is one of the interests of old world travel. Texas will be old world some time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hightower have had enjoyment for every moment of their wedding trip which paid visit to Mr. Hightower's family in Georgia. They join the Hale household on North Fifth.

Have you said that word of caution yet which will make your child respect the park and see that his playmate does the same?

We do not know just what a musical miniature is, but the smart set is talking about it.

Remember Monday is San Jacinto, the most glorious of our state holidays. Every house must have its Texas flag displayed.

The party of club women, the Mesdames W. E. Spell, T. W. Robertson, Fred Robinson, Frank Trau, N. H. Church, with Miss Decca Lamar West are due at home from their district meeting at Edna tonight. Had you noticed how popular the reminiscent party is? The remark is suggested by the calling together of old friends for Mrs. J. D. Padgett on Friday. We have not heard of its vogue elsewhere, but it is an idea well worthy the passing on.

Miss Vedder of Galveston who was a passing visitor to Mrs. Quitman Finley on the South Side pays a return visit in middle May, en route to the Brockenborough-Spurlin wedding at Hamilton.

Once more, take the precaution not to scatter your hostess' porch with tissue paper during her at home. It snags too forcibly of the cigarette field.

These delightful spring Sundays are bringing a number of automobile outings to the country.

Get out the camphor balls; it is time for their annual airing. And, remember, they say a few balls placed in the haunts of mice will scatter the rodents.

Within the week, Mrs. Dan Weil of New York city, and her mother, Mrs. C. K. Weil of this city, leaves for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weil in Houston. From there, Mrs. Weil returns home to New York and Mrs. Weil to Waco.

The Misses Fulkerson of Grandview and Jenkins of Bartlett, who attend Baylor university, are spending their San Jacinto holiday with Mrs. W. S. Ferguson on North Fourteenth.

There is coming a radical departure in the tones of room furnishing. The lavender, soft green, blue and pinks, light browns, and other fancies are being used with good effect in the furniture as well as in the art squares and the draperies.

Is it not just as easy to cultivate the habit of putting paper scraps into the shopping bag until the next trash can is reached, as to throw them helter skelter into the street? We think so. And yet the woman lives in Waco who will attend at home and leave her lazy coachman loitering while the horses with tight reins are in the throes of the fly pest, to say nothing of the strained muscles.

"The 'Millionaires' Club' has gone into the hands of a receiver," says the Raleigh News and Observer. "When the right of direct election of United States senators was provided for by an amendment to the constitution, the time was up for the 'Millionaires' Club' to do business in Washington. The people will elect their senators from now on and they will represent the people instead of the special interests." But Brother Josephus Daniels' paper had better slow down a bit along this line. More objection has been raised by Democratic senators in the past against dubbing the senate the "Millionaires' Club" than by Republicans, by a long shot. As a good Democrat the News and Observer would not have us believe, surely, that the party's senators in the past have been "special interests" men. Perish the thought! And as a sensible sheet, the News and Observer would not have us believe the popular election of senators is going to populate the erstwhile "Millionaires' Club" with Wellers, Clays, Sumners and Stephens, by an equally long shot.

"When Louisiana gets mad enough to vote the Republican ticket we shall have no doubt it is in real earnest about the sugar tariff," says the Philadelphia Press. Perhaps so; nevertheless, the idea provokes some sarcastic questions. What is the labor cost in a hundredweight of Louisiana sugar? And how many of the laborers in sugar production are permitted to vote in that state?—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The labor cost in a hundredweight of Louisiana sugar is incomparably greater than the labor cost per hundredweight of any product turned out in Pittsburgh district and almost as many laborers in sugar production are permitted to vote in Louisiana as are bought by bosses in the elections of the Pittsburgh district.

The entertaining satirist on the Wellington (Kan.) News did not dedicate this parody of a slushy song to the southern Democrats in congress in respect to their attitude toward the proposed "free list," but he might have done so with all appropriateness:

Like a baby needs tobacco, like a blind man needs a book, like a drowning man needs water, like Chicago needs a crook, like Carnegie needs the money to pay the rent when due, like a Yankee hates his pork and beans—that's how I need you.

"It is safe to assume (and the Meridian (Miss.) Dispatch therefore assumes it) that this example of the president will be followed by future presidents and that there will be no more Bacchanalian revels at the White House." How fallible is history! How unimportant is the press! We search in vain for any account of former Bacchanalian revels at the White House.

Turkey slaughtered, the Great Powers of Europe watching an opportunity to lynch Monte-negro, carnage in Mexico, labor riots in Columbia—the gem-of-the-Ocean and lady riots in England. Arrarat is too close to the scene of European conflict. Where, then, is the dove of peace to light?

THE TARIFF HERE AND THERE.

While the South and much of the South's press are directing their shafts at the proposal to remove entirely or reduce fearfully the duties on raw materials peculiar to this section, while New England congressmen and spokesmen for the industries of their territory are doing their utmost to block the free-listing of shoes and the duty reduction on cotton goods; while Oklahoma congressmen are opposing the free-listing of cattle while also opposing a less rigid disposition of the duty on rice; it remains for the staid, conservative, sober old Boston Transcript to broach the most startling poser, the most "interesting" case against President Wilson and his tariff revision as it affects New England manufactures, that has yet been sprung on the talked-to-death public and written-to-death editors.

"Under the proposed law," the old-timer tells us, "the chief industries of this district will face conditions they never knew before, with the possibility that they may be wiped out. To prevent being wiped out they will have to combine for the sake of economy in production and selling, and if they do combine, Mr. Wilson has in mind a law to break up just such combinations."

So much for the theory. Yet it is safe to wager that within a year not a single industry plant of consequence in New England will have closed its doors or will have booked a profit substantially less than legitimate—as "legitimate" will mean when the opportunity is removed for the New England factory to slap fifty cents or a dollar on its price of the finished product whenever congress reduces the duty on the raw material with which it works. Things equalize themselves. Increased cost of product, with many of the biggest and richest industries, has never been prompted solely by the increased cost of labor, and certainly it has not been prompted at all by the increased cost of material—for price advance has followed the placing of import material on the free list or the reduction of duty, compelling a proportionate drop in the price of domestic material. Thus the shoe manufacturers of New England henceforth will have to devote to higher wages the periodic rise in price of shoes that hitherto has followed tariff manipulation in their favor. It will no longer be possible to buy in London for three dollars a pair of American-made shoes that sell in New York for five dollars.

Fifty, or thereabout, years more of beauty advice for American women who need it. Colonel Lillian Russell says she will live to be a hundred.

UNHAPPY ABUSE.

It is more than surprising, it is almost incredible, the extent to which certain criticism has run of the recent honor paid the lost heroes of the Titanic, by their widows and survivors. Humor of the paragraph variety is more newspapers than one would imagine, having to do with the fact that these true women are widows and would do well to be looking to the "main chance" of another marriage and to save their roses for their June bridegroom, is offered the reading public. There has been some retreating-forehead opinion expressed of the extravagance of strewing roses on the ocean, some criticism of the manner in which the memorial of love and devotion was bestowed. This is a sample of such criticism from the Meridian (Mississippi) Dispatch, a Southern newspaper, a newspaper of the gallant South, the South that prides itself on its "chivalry," and, with right, on its respect for the heroic dead and the sentiment inspired by the heroism of sacrifice for women and children:

The news dispatches say that a number of widows whose husbands lost their lives in the terrible Titanic disaster of a year ago, sailed for Europe on a liner that brought them to the scene of the awful catastrophe at 2:15 a. m. on the 15th, at which time they held a spectacular service and cast on the sea great quantities of scarlet flowers. Most of these widowed women are persons of large wealth and this latest stunt was widely advertised in the society columns of the eastern newspapers. The fact that the function was so elaborately gotten up and that these women kept their press agents out of the affair and made it appear coarse and vulgar, not to say grotesque. It is said that this junketing trip, where the widows paraded their grief before the world, was organized by Mrs. Jacques Futelle, relict of the novelist. While it may add to the sales of the late Mr. Futelle's books, there can be no other good reason for the display.

That is wrong, thoroughly wrong in spirit and unjust. The grief of these women was the world's grief, a year ago. A service of this unusual sort needs must become known to the world, and the tremendous significance of the event with which it was concerned made it a matter of world-wide interest. The wealth or poverty of the women survivors of the Titanic sinking was not considered by the world in its estimate of the bravery of their men who went to death content in the knowledge that those dearer than life were saved. No amount of newspaper publicity (there was no press agenting) could rob this recent rite of the least measure of its tender sentiment, its dignity. Who would deride the spirit that places flowers on the dirt mound of a grave in a cemetery? That gives the money to erect, and unveils with ceremony of music and flowers and eulogy and public announcement, a monument to soldiers who perished in a battle for human rights, or to firemen who perished in saving their fellow men? Is this tribute to the brave dead of the Titanic less deserved?

Such a slur, coming even from a newspaper most rabidly socialistic in its views and disposed to cavil at all "display" of wealth, would be utterly surprising. Coming from a newspaper not of such stamp, an editorial expression of the sort printed above is an unhappy, reprehensible performance.

Texas Viewpoints

Kindness itself.
It is not unusual for the amazingly versatile State Press of the Gal-Dal Newses to blueprint the efforts of its brother commentators of Texas down to the finest point. And to give S. P. his due and his B. C.'s theirs, it is not unusual for these efforts to benefit of the blueprint. S. P. is Texas's classic dissipation of obscurity and best little amateur dispenser of opacity. Ourself has known his kindness (especially from the Galveston end, for S. P. is somewhat to the Siamese twin, with two great dailies to care for) in this regard. State Press feels he owes a duty to the reading public of this boundless commonwealth. He brings out latent possibilities in the paragraphs and editorials of his brethren, puts 'em right on every topic under the sun, from abattoirs to Zulus, tells the public what they mean or ought to mean. Broad? Broad with a broadness that almost defies comprehension. And the zenith of his kindness, the acme of his broadness, the quintessence of his versatility, the unselfishness of his solicitude is reached and manifest when, as on Thursday last, he attaches this label to a block of his own comment:

"Here is a Thought."

Our Free Speech.

There is scarcely a single issue of national importance in the United States that is not being systematically agitated by an organization formed for the purpose. A casual glance back over the history of the United States will reveal no similar condition of affairs. The next generation will receive the benefits of the concentration of united effort upon single issues. Galveston Tribune.
Even to the acquisition, by the federal government, of Monticello? It may be the forming of so many "national" organizations whose efforts are directed toward obtaining congressional action on national concerns is an offshoot of the spirit that advocates the initiative in our scheme of government, or it may be that it is a survival of that spirit that held congress in disesteem as the agent chiefly of the "special interests." At any rate, the time has not yet passed when congress needs and to save their roses for their June bridegroom, is offered the reading public. There has been some retreating-forehead opinion expressed of the extravagance of strewing roses on the ocean, some criticism of the manner in which the memorial of love and devotion was bestowed. This is a sample of such criticism from the Meridian (Mississippi) Dispatch, a Southern newspaper, a newspaper of the gallant South, the South that prides itself on its "chivalry," and, with right, on its respect for the heroic dead and the sentiment inspired by the heroism of sacrifice for women and children:

Precept and Practice.

There are some things that a human being should never do. Among these is to kindle fire with kerosene oil, to walk on a railroad, to attempt to get on a moving train, to point a gun or a knife at another, to put his name on another man's note, to tell his savings in an old stocking under the bed, to play a game of chance with a prepossessing stranger, to run for office when he has a paying position in private life, or to call a bigger man than himself a liar.—Sunset Signal-News.

Or to advise a person addicted to any of the above practices to change his ways. There is no man, or class of men, whom experience has taught more strikingly the futility of advising a person capable of performing any one of the stunts listed above, than the newspaper man. And there is no man who has to give this sort of advice oftener—much against his personal inclinations. There is this consolation: a newspaper man's professional precepts may be lost sight of in his personal practices when, as Barrie would say, "like a true Arcadian he need argue with nobody about anything."

Texas Press Resentful.

If John Lunsford of the San Antonio Express expects the press lunch to drink the pure artesian water that will be found in the assemblage hall next morning, he will have to add some coloring to it.—Temple Telegram.
Colonel Lunsford is not to blame for the sticks on sticks of paragraphs and exchange replies the Express has been foisting on Texas Press in the month past, lauding and promising (which is worse) local artesian water for the entertainment of the great order. These are the cold water efforts of the paper's Bright and Handsome Jim Hampton, the latter being so partial to artesian water that he had a well (and others) bored in the San Antonio club's buffet. Lunsford knows his club better than that.

Requiem.

The dead can't smell the flowers you bring nor hear the praise you sing. The dead can't see the tears you shed nor feel your sorrowing. So give the live ones words of praise, don't wait until it is too late; a kind word brightens gloomy days and fits a man to cope with fate. A boost is cheap; so let us try to keep our good deeds piping; and if a poor guy has to die, let's see that he dies smiling.—Gainesville Register.

Yes, let's. And let's make assurance of his dying smile doubly sure by keeping those rhythmic groans from his dying eyes and dying ears. At least, the dead don't have to listen to our poetry.

GRAN MEN WANT PRIVILEGES

Asking for Stoppage in Transit That Is Now Allowed the Millers In the State.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—T. G. Moore of Fort Worth and R. O. McCormack, secretary of the Fort Worth Freight Bureau, appeared today before the members of the railroad commission and announced that the grain dealers of Texas will make a strong fight to have the commission readjust the rules governing stoppage in transit and milling in transit and secure an equalization with the privileges granted the millers. They contend that the millers have a hundred-mile free back haul with a more favorable rate on indirect hauls are allowed to ship out in the same car commodities reaching the milling station over different lines or railroad. This is denied the grain men, together with other privileges now allowed the millers. No date has yet been set for a hearing.

EIGHT PEOPLE ARE INJURED

Central of Georgia Train Is Wrecked By Obstructions on the Track.

Loxley, Ga., April 18.—Eight persons were injured, three seriously, when Central of Georgia passenger train No. 15 from Macon to Atlanta, was wrecked near here early today. Two trainmen and an unknown woman being taken to Atlanta in the baggage coach were seriously injured. Believing that the wreck was due to an obstruction placed on the tracks, officials ordered bloodhounds sent to the scene. The accident occurred in the name out and none of the coaches was overturned. A relief train was rushed from Jonesboro to the aid of the injured.

Katy Promises to Give Flyer Service on Carload Freight

Elbert Blair, general freight and passenger agent of the Texas Central, and L. T. Fowler returned yesterday from Dallas, where they have been attending a meeting of the commercial representatives of the Katy. At the meeting a readjustment of the merchandise schedule was decided on, making a number of changes which will be beneficial to Waco shippers. It was also arranged to put on additional freight trains to handle all carload dead freight from St. Louis and Kansas City and other northern terminals, giving them the same movement as live freight service, making a morning delivery after shipment.

Parisian Advocates Restricted Hours for Those of Underworld

Chicago, April 18.—"I often wonder how many young women who come to Paris to be 'finished' and 'educated' have been broken down morally by the life here. I have heard of and seen several instances," said a letter to Lieutenant Governor O'Hara, chairman of the Illinois vice commission, from C. G. Gillette of Paris, France. "I have no hope that fallen women can be redeemed," he wrote.

The letter advocates a law prohibiting fallen women from appearing in miles from Miami, presumably in the

OFFER TO THOMPSON

COLQUITT TENDERS CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE IRRIGATION COMMISSION TO HIM.

Texas Is Now Engineer of the Railroad Commission of California. Gets Big Salary There.

Austin, April 18.—Governor Colquitt announced this morning that he had tendered the chairmanship of the irrigation commission formed under an act of the Thirty-third legislature to R. A. Thompson, engineer to the railroad commission of the state of California.

The irrigation bill as passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, creates a commission with an engineer to look after irrigation interests throughout the state. Along with the general irrigation bill was passed a district irrigation measure empowering the irrigation commissioners to form irrigation districts, providing for the issuance of bonds, the lease of water privileges, etc. The office of commissioner of the irrigation department carries with it a salary of $3,600.

In announcing his appointment of Mr. Thompson, Governor Colquitt said: "He now receives a salary of $5,000 per annum, though his citizenship is still in Texas. He may not care to surrender a $5,000 position for one paying $3,600."

The governor has had numerous applications for positions on the board, but has announced that he will probably not make any appointments until after the special session of the legislature as there may be some amendments to be made to the law before it is put into operation.

"I do not wish to appoint anyone to a position on this board unless I am satisfied that his appointment will aid in making the law a success," he said.

Sims and Glover Meet in the Park But Peacemakers There

Washington, April 18.—Representative Sims of Tennessee and Charles C. Glover, a local banker and capitalist, met today at Andrew Jackson's monument in Lafayette Square, just across Pennsylvania avenue from the white house. It was the first meeting since Mr. Sims on the floor of the house and Glover in the senate about Mr. Glover's connection with real estate operations here, in which the government had to do with acquiring more land for Rock Creek park. It was also the first time since Mr. Glover, before a congressional committee, had said some things about Mr. Sims.

The preliminaries, so far as known, were without witnesses, but those who arrived shortly after declared that Mr. Sims told Mr. Glover he considered he had done his duty and that Mr. Glover replied it was his intention to proceed to do his.

What happened before the peacemakers got between is shrouded in some vagueness. However, Mr. Sims later proceeded to the capital, and Mr. Glover proceeded to his bank.

Mike Mullins of the Washington park department, who was at work with a pruning hook, declined to give the views of a man up a tree.

Mr. Sims afterward declared the affair a closed incident.

A Heart to Heart Talk With Husbands

Husbands, what are you going to do? Are you going to tread the squirrel cage till you die, leaving the wife and the little ones caged in the city on a single lot?
I am in earnest about this matter. Thousands of Waco people—our best people—are climbing the revolving squirrel-cage of life—sometimes going pretty fast but they don't get anywhere, just drawing the pay envelope, paying rent, interest and taxes on a city lot, which is only a place to stay; at the end of the year they find themselves poorer, older and no savings from the tolls of the year before.
Why not change this? Why not do things worth while?
Why not live where the cow will feed herself, and feed the babies, too; where the hens will thrive and lay a profit? These are questions that we should ponder well and give to each a practical answer.
I have secured a body of rich sandy loam land just ten minutes out of the city, on the Interurban, where the city is in full view, and an ideal place that will meet the demands of the busy man. Power for electric lights and the telephone can be had just as cheap as can be furnished anywhere. Water, plenty in quantity and good in quality, reached in abundance just 30 feet from the top of the ground.
This place is Crescent-Heights Acres. I have bought to the very best advantage and can help you solve your problem of making a living and saving money. Call me up at once and let us get together and talk this matter over.
Either phone 2342.

LAZ OFFICE HITS DRUNKARD BILL

GIVES TOO MUCH POWER TO INDIVIDUALS TO RESTRAIN LIBERTY.

"ABANDON HOPE" IF IN ASYLUM

If Legislature Has Right to Confine for Two Months for No Offense Could Do More.

Austin, April 18.—The attorney general today declared unconstitutional the bill passed by the recent legislature for the incarceration of habitual drunkards in state insane asylums, defining habitual drunkenness, fixing the time they shall be confined in the asylums and other procedure.

The bill was submitted to the attorney general for opinion by Governor Colquitt, who believed it unconstitutional on the grounds that the state constitution provided a home for inebriates.

The attorney general's department today answered the governor, expressing the opinion that the act in question is unconstitutional and void.

The opinion states that it is not unconstitutional upon the ground that it is not proper to incarcerate a man in the insane asylum for habitual drunkenness because the constitution has provided that the legislature may establish an asylum for inebriates.

The opinion, however, is based upon the ground that the law is arbitrary and harsh; that it authorizes the incarceration of a man for as much as three years without his having committed a penal offense and without the safeguard of a fair and impartial trial in a court of law, and that the act in question denies to an individual thus charged under the act the equal protection and due process of law in contravention of the plain provisions of the constitution of these United States and of the bill of rights of this state.

The act in defining habitual drunkenness states that it is anyone who from the use of intoxicating liquors or drugs is in such condition that the welfare of himself and others requires that he be restrained.

Too Much Power for Jury.
The act in question purports to define and deal with habitual drunkenness, but the definition employed, wholly ignores the element of habit and the consequent more or less permanent physical and mental condition, such a condition as justifies the state to take charge of the person, in the absence of question authorities a conviction where a person is in such condition that the welfare of himself and others requires that he be restrained, regardless of whether this condition has been superinduced by one act of intoxication, or by a dozen or a hundred such acts. It is the common observation of everyone that any person of average temperament whenever intoxicated whether the first time or habitually, is to an extent at least in such condition that he is in need of restraint, and requires that he be placed under restraint. A jury trying a person charged under this bill would have plenary power to apply the definition, and doubtless would in many instances, under peculiar whims and caprices, convict and deprive a person of his liberty for three years by incarcerating him in the asylum. No real trial by jury is provided by the act, nor is there a trial by a court of law. Simply a form of arrest, or, at best, but will be before the county judge in chambers or even away from the court at the residence of the party charged. The bill is wholly lacking in the safeguards of a trial, and the jury is left to indulge its own idea as to what act or condition constitutes a crime, man dangerous, and its finding on this issue is final.

"The party charged has no right of appeal, and the order of the judge in a proceeding of this kind, to all intents and purposes, is an act of state, becomes a final judgment, depriving the person of his liberty for the definite period of three years. It thus becomes possible for a citizen to be deprived of his liberty for this length of time without having committed any crime, or without being convicted by law, and without having been convicted of any offense by a jury of his own selection in a fair and impartial trial.

Legislature Cannot Go So Far.
"It is the opinion of this department that the legislature cannot go so far. The justification for legislation of this kind is on the theory that a habitual drunkard has lost self-control and is thus exposed to other dangers. This condition creates the necessity of intervention by the state. The purpose of such guardianship is humane, beneficial and paternal, but the lawful right to its continuance, that is, the incarceration that is justified, is limited strictly to the period of time such disability or weakness of control exists, and as such right of intervention by the state springs from the necessities of the situation, it follows that when such condition is removed, that is, when there is a recovery or restoration of self-control, the right to a further incarceration ceases. The act in question does not apply merely during disability or want of self-control, but the person charged under the act is to be imprisoned for a fixed period. It does not contemplate restoration of cure. The act is a provision that the person charged may be paroled at any time after he has been confined for two months. Suppose he should recover earlier than two months? Such recovery is not in view, and the act is impossible is immaterial, because we are now dealing with the power of the legislature. If the legislature may thus authorize imprisonment for three years without the commission of any offense, made punishable by law, then it may prescribe ten years or twenty years. If it could arbitrarily and without regard to the true facts of the particular case fix two months as the period which must be paroled, then it could have said that paroled, then it may have said that paroled at all should be granted, or it could have fixed any other period that must elapse before a parole could become operative.

One Man's Right to Parole.
"Again the matter of the parole is left absolutely to the will of the asylum superintendent. Neither the person charged nor anyone for him has the right to institute a proceeding to show that this disability has been removed and to demand a hearing on the facts, and there is no right or procedure to revise the action of the superintendent. If a person fully recovers after two months and the superintendent for any reason that might sway him fail or refuse to recommend a parole, the harmless and restored citizen in that case would have to abide for three years under a sentence was served out. The constitution of this state has vested the pardoning power in the governor, and we believe, and it is the opinion of this department, that the legislature was without power to virtually lodge the parole or pardoning power in instances of this kind in the superintendent of the asylum." Acting on this opinion, the governor has filed his veto of the bill.

TRYING TO LOWER RATES.

Railroad Commission Endeavoring to Help Veterans.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—Earle B. Mayfield, railroad commissioner, in an effort to further the interests of the old veterans who desire to attend the Confederate reunion in Chattanooga, has written to Thomas J. Freeman, president of the Texas and Pacific, B. F. Yokum of New York, and E. H. Britton of St. Louis, requesting that their influence be used in lowering the rate.

Is C. Tobin, commander of Camp Karnes County U. C. V. No. 1307, wrote the railroad commission stating that the fare from that point last year to Macon, much further, was $19.70. This year the fare to Chattanooga has been quoted at $25.10.

Vetoes Marketing Bureau.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—Governor Colquitt today, in conformance with the policy he has pursued with regard to the vetoing of all measures creating new offices and carrying appropriations, vetoed the bill creating a marketing bureau in connection with the department of agriculture providing for the chief of the bureau and specifying the compensation.

In vetoing the governor states that he believes if the legislature desires to create this office it can do so by making an appropriation therefor in the general appropriation bill. The bill he believes unnecessary. Furthermore, it creates a new statutory office which, when once created is difficult to abolish.

Approved Reserve Agents.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The department of insurance and banking today approved the following banks as reserve agents for state banks:

Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Waco, for the Bartlett State Bank of Bartlett.

South Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston, for the State Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Henderson.

Houston National Exchange Bank of Houston, for the Farmers State Bank of Georgetown.

To Move Fish Hatchery.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The state fish hatchery which was to have been established in Austin may be moved elsewhere. The unfavorable attitude of certain members of the university board of regents is responsible. Some twenty acres of the following land granted by Col. Brackenridge to the university was desired by the commission for the hatchery. This was not granted. There are some very favorable spots in view in Hopkins and Cass counties.

Secret Trust Investigation.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—Secret investigation of suspected trust operations in the state are being made by Assistant Attorney General Clyde A. Swenson. At least this is the impression of the department. Just where Mr. Swenson is or what line of corporations he is investigating is not known at this time. Additional suits may be filed.

New Charter Is Filed.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The secretary of state today filed the charter of the San Jose Artesian Hot Well company of San Jose, Bexar county. It takes over the land formerly owned by the Terrell Hot Well company. The capital stock is $100,000. Incorporators, Henry W. Hamilton, J. N. Leard, C. A. Murphy, all of Bexar county.

As Special Inspector.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The state insurance board today named E. W. Fenning of Fort Worth as special inspector. He will investigate fire losses. He will also act as assistant to State Fire Marshal Wallace Inglish.

Approves Normal Repairs.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—Governor Colquitt signed and filed the bill appropriating $7,500 for the repairs and improvements on the San Marcos normal school.

DEBT OF MERIDIAN COLLEGE

Citizens Agree to Lift It and Trustees Promise No More to Exceed Income.

Meridian, Tex., April 17.—A few weeks ago a citizens' committee composed of business men of Meridian was appointed for the purpose of raising sufficient funds to liquidate the outstanding indebtedness of Meridian college, a Methodist institution located here. At a meeting of the board of trustees of the college held here today this committee made its report in substance as follows: That it had raised $26,000, evidenced by solvent notes due in one, two and three years, and would take these notes and pay off all outstanding indebtedness immediately, provided the trustees would agree to perpetuate the school and never again encumber the property with debt. The board of trustees unanimously accepted the proposition and attorneys were instructed to draw up necessary papers accordingly.

This is rather an unique proposition and Meridian people, as well as those within Gatesville, Waco, Dublin and Cleburne district conferences, are rejoicing over the fact that this one Methodist college in Texas should be free of debt and will be kept so in the future.

Meridian college was located at Meridian by the Gatesville district conference of the M. E. church, South, in 1907. The school opened its doors for its first session in 1909. It is affiliated with Southwestern university, Polytechnic college and A. M. college. The main building is a beautiful hewn rock structure, modern in architecture and convenience. The stone dormitory for girls is splendid, comfortable and convenient, and the frame dormitory for the boys is satisfactorily answering every purpose until a better building may be erected. These buildings are on a campus of thirty-five acres, near the business section of the town.

TO SIGN CONTRACT ON SEWER RIGHT

COMMISSION WILL HAVE SPECIAL MEETING THIS MORNING TO CONSIDER IT.

HOUSE ENCLOSED ON STREET

So Says the Fire Marshal, and City Attorney and City Engineer Are to Investigate.

At a called session of the city commission this morning at 9 o'clock the question of a contract with the owners of Huaco Heights, whereby that company proposes to connect a sewer system to be placed in that addition with the city sewer system, will be discussed.

The proposal was presented at the meeting yesterday at which time representatives of the real estate company appeared before the commission with a contract providing for the connection. The commission after hearing the contract read voiced objections to some parts of it. The owners of the addition signified their willingness to any equitable contract and the matter was referred to the city attorney with instructions to prepare a contract to be submitted to the commission this morning.

The proposal is to connect the mains of the addition with those of the city at Twenty-third street. The commission is in favor of the connection, and the contract is for the purpose of protecting the city in the matter of collection of bills for sewerage.

The fire marshal reported to the commission that a house at Ninth and Webster, belonging to Dave Hawtof had been constructed three feet in the street. The building is for business purposes. The matter was referred to the city attorney and he was instructed to call in the city engineer in order to secure a correct survey. At the commission meeting it was stated that the owner had not asked for a survey before building, but erected the structure on the line where his old fence was, or rather one foot back of the fence. According to the city engineer Mr. Hawtof owns two feet of the rear of the lot which he has not claimed.

Application from the Geyser Ice company to remove their ice supply house from Eighth and Austin streets to the alley at Eighth streets between Austin and Washington streets, was referred to the fire commissioner. The structure is a board affair covered with sheet iron. It has been the policy of the commission to discourage erection of such structures inside the fire limits, and the question of removal of such a structure met with opposition. The fire commissioner will make a recommendation on the matter.

The bonds of City Secretary John Davis and City Assessor R. L. Striffling, approved as to form by the city attorney, were presented and referred to the finance commissioner.

NEW DIPHTHERIA DISCOVERY.

German Specialists Announce New Anti-Toxin Treatment.

Wiesbaden, Germany, April 18.—The discovery of a method of passive immunization against diphtheria, consisting of an injection of a mixture of diphtheria toxin and anti-toxin was announced today by Professor Emil von Behring on the University of Marburg, at the congress of international medicine now in session here. Adequate tests of the new method in the clinics of Marburg and Marburg have shown that the treatment was harmless and effective. The early attempts to immunize by means of Behring's original diphtheria serum were unsuccessful as the immunity was very brief.

Professor Behring offered to supply clinics with the new prophylactic under proper guarantees of observation and registration.

WILL DOUGLASS IS HELD TO THE GRAND JURY WITHOUT THE BENEFIT OF BAIL.

Is Charged With Rape—C. C. Thompson Is Remanded for Contempt and Fined.

Will Douglass, negro, charged with rape, was held without bail to await the action of the grand jury, following a preliminary hearing in Justice Harvey M. Richey's court yesterday. His alleged victim is 7-year-old Lucille House, negroess. Douglass did not take the stand. Neither did his alleged mother appear in the court room. The crime with which Douglass is charged was committed Saturday last.

The girl's mother testified and another witness testified that Douglass had given her son a nickel to go tell the house girl to come out, that her mother wanted her. The man previously had made a confession and this was introduced. The trial was short.

Following the trial the negro told Assistant County Attorney D. C. Woods that he had served two terms in the penitentiary. He was sent up from this county for two years for horse theft, and the other case is said to have been in Kansas.

TO OUR READERS AND SUBSCRIBERS

The semi-annual house-cleaning time is again at hand, and the problem of cleaning in the old-fashioned way confronting the housewife. The Waco Morning News, always alert in doing things in an up-to-date manner, has taken advantage of a rare opportunity in securing 2,500 National Vacuum Cleaners, which will be distributed among our subscribers, both new and old alike.

It has not been until recently that the average housewife could enjoy the privilege of a cleaning device that will do the work in an easy as well as a sanitary manner. Vacuum Cleaners have come to stay and are fast taking the place of the old-fashioned broom and carpet sweeper, ceasing to exist as a luxury and becoming an absolute necessity.

The National Vacuum Cleaner has been recently patented. The patent that covers the mechanism that makes this the most efficient dirt exterminator was granted to the manufacturers December 26, 1911. The National is the only machine of its type that is constructed with the non-clog separator and the aluminum spring self-adjusting nozzle connection.

We have employed a competent crew of demonstrators and you may expect a call from them in the near future. We would consider it a favor if the housewives of Waco would allow our demonstrators the courtesy of their home, as we want every housewife in Waco to see a practical demonstration of this wonderful machine.

If our demonstrator fails to call upon you, kindly phone the Vacuum Cleaner Department of this office and we will gladly send a demonstrator to your home. We also wish to call the attention of our mail subscribers to the fact that a Vacuum Cleaner can be delivered to them upon receipt of $4.95, plus the first month's subscription in advance. Full directions are sent with each machine, showing you how to operate it. We also call attention to our terms appearing on another page of this issue.

Don't fail to take advantage of this wonderful offer, that you may have the use of a National Vacuum Cleaner for your spring house cleaning.

Article 169 of the city ordinances reads: "It shall be the duty of all physicians and midwives to report to the city physician within five days after the birth of every child in the city, attended by them; or in case no physician or midwife is in attendance at the birth of the child, then the nurse in attendance, or some member of the family shall report to the city physician, giving the names of the parents of the child, time of birth, sex and color."

The ordinance makes it a misdemeanor for failure to make this report, and the record of three births among the colored population as against fifty-three among the white population, is too great a contrast to pass without some idea that it is a joke.

In his monthly report to the city commission Dr. E. Toonim says: Deaths—White males 24, females 12, total 36. Colored males 9, females 7, total 16. Total of all 52.

Average annual death rate for the month per thousand population, estimated at 35,000, 15.36.

City Ordinance Makes It Misdemeanor for Failure—Health Department Statistics.

Following the report recently made by the state health department that Waco does not report vital statistics, comes the monthly report of the city physician which shows that during the month of March there were three births among the colored population in 31 days.

Article 169 of the city ordinances reads: "It shall be the duty of all physicians and midwives to report to the city physician within five days after the birth of every child in the city, attended by them; or in case no physician or midwife is in attendance at the birth of the child, then the nurse in attendance, or some member of the family shall report to the city physician, giving the names of the parents of the child, time of birth, sex and color."

The ordinance makes it a misdemeanor for failure to make this report, and the record of three births among the colored population as against fifty-three among the white population, is too great a contrast to pass without some idea that it is a joke.

In his monthly report to the city commission Dr. E. Toonim says: Deaths—White males 24, females 12, total 36. Colored males 9, females 7, total 16. Total of all 52.

Average annual death rate for the month per thousand population, estimated at 35,000, 15.36.

Causes of Deaths—Tuberculosis 7.

No Ice Where Titanic Was Lost.

New York, April 18.—Owing to the fact that the Seneca, a United States revenue cutter and the Scotia, a British steamship, both on duty as ice patrol vessels in the region where the Titanic was lost last year, have been unable to find any ice present in those waters, the principal steamship lines are now operating their westbound vessels over a lane sixty miles north of the course which has been followed all winter.

DARKNESS ENDS LONG TIE GAME

A home run by Fred Wohlleben in the eighth inning tied the score for the third time in yesterday's game with Austin and it remained 5 and 5 until the end of the twelfth, when the umpire Howell drew the curtain on account of darkness.

The ball pelted by Wohlleben cleared the left field fence just a few inches inside the flag that marks the foul line. He was the first man up in the inning and made the last score of the game.

Taylor pitched the entire game for Austin, showing weakness at times, but always going good enough to hold the Navigators. Platzke pitched nine innings for Waco and was retired in the ninth to allow a pinch hitter to bat after Reilly was hit with a pitched ball.

The fielding of both clubs was exceptionally good considering the many hard chances. The first baseman for each team got six put-outs out of the thirty-six on each team, allowing the outfielders and infielders a brilliant opportunity to do fast fielding. Melver, center gardener for Austin, pulled down two mighty fast catches in his territory and Crichelow worked the same ground well for Waco.

The Navigators were easily the stars on the bases. Carson's men pifered the bags almost at will while both Hininger and Bobo were catching. Hininger was injured in the fourth inning when Crichelow slid to the plate in an effort to complete a double steal. He was carried from the field and will be out of the game for several days. He injured an old sprain.

The opposing hurlers were inclined to be a little wild during the ninth. The size of the game, but when Jost got to the mound he started to pitching straight ball and he kept it up until the game was called. Taylor also decided it was a duel with Waco's best twirler and he put more steam on the ball, allowing only one lone bludge after the ninth inning.

Waco's Chance in Ninth. The best chance Waco had to win the game came in the last of the ninth when one man was hit with a pitched ball, the pinch hitter struck out, the next pitcher went out on a fly, the next one singled and McLaurin was purposely passed, filling the bases. Wohlleben filed out to center.

How the Game Progressed. Netzel, the pitcher up for Austin, walked, Brownlow sacrificed him to second and he went to third on a wild pitch. George Leidy was on the first base coach line kicking up an enormous amount of dust, but his raving stopped when McLaurin made a short run and took Melver's line drive to left.

With two down in the last of the first McLaurin walked, stole second, Wohlleben singled, placing McLaurin on third. The signal was given for a double steal, which was executed very nearly, giving Waco one tally. Renard struck out.

The scoring ceased until the third inning. Platzke seemed to be going good in the second inning and retired the first three men who faced him on fly balls and one strikeout. After Brainerd was out on a fly in the third, Smith connected with the left field fence for a double, and Taylor scored him with a single to center.

Netzel singled to right and Taylor was caught at second because he loafed on the path. Brownlow ended the rally with a drive to Tanner at short in the beginning of the fourth Austin got another tally. Melver was out on a fly to Crichelow. Cook singled to right, stole second. Hille walked. Hininger grounded to Duguey and Hille was forced at second. A signal for a double steal was given by Leidy, who stuck close to the coach boxes throughout the game. It was pulled off very neatly, Cooke crossing for the second tally for Austin and Smith ended the inning with a fly to Crichelow.

With two down in the last of the fourth Waco tied the score. Renard walked and went to third on Crichelow's single to center. Crichelow stole second and Renard stole home when Bobo threw the ball to the shortstop and made a bag peg. Tanner hit Smith and he pegged Crichelow at the plate. Tanner was out trying to steal.

In the fifth inning Waco took the lead when Duguey tripled to right field and came home when Cooke made a bad peg to relay the ball to the infield. Another tally was acquired in the sixth. Wohlleben singled to right. Renard grounded out to the infield, and Wohlleben scored on Crichelow's single to center.

Austin Ties It in Seventh. Austin again tied the score in the seventh inning. Brainerd led off with a single to center and went to second on Smith's single to the same field. Taylor hit a grounder to the shortstop in an effort to catch Brainerd at third. He made a bad peg, which let in two scores. The Senators took a lead of one tally in the beginning of the eighth. With two outs, Bobo was safe.

at first on Crichelow's error. He stole second and tallied on Brainerd's double to center. Pandemonium reigned in the grandstand when Fred Wohlleben came to the bat and clouted the leather over the left field fence for the first home run of the season by the Waco team. This again tied the score and it remained 5 and 5 until the game was called, with both sides fighting every inch to get across the deciding score. The official score:

Aggies Play Loose Game, but Hit the Ball Hard, Winning Contest 11 to 9.

College Station, Tex., April 18.—The Louisiana Varsity baseball performers refused to take a game tendered them today by errors and dumb plays on the part of the Texas Farmers and the final score stood 11 to 9 for the Aggies.

The game was replete with errors, A. and M. getting more than her share, but the Aggies got their eye on the ball and pounded the pellet with a vengeance. Captain Collins lined out a three-bagger, one for two losses and a single out of five times up. Leaton and Wright also got triples. Holmes twirled for the visitors while Miller was on the mound for the Texans, the Aggies' pitcher having the better of the argument.

The engineering department of the Southern Traction Company is preparing the plans and specifications for the extension. No lot in HUACO HEIGHTS will be over two blocks from the car. BAPTIST REVIVAL HAS BIG CROWDS

ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY INDICATES A GROWING INTEREST IN THE SERVICES.

AT KATY SHOPS AT NOON HOUR

Week End to Be Given Over to Special Meetings—On the Streets This Evening.

Program for Today.
10 a. m.—Twentieth Century Special for Waco young people at the First Baptist church.
7:45 p. m.—Special assembly for prayer at First Baptist church.
8 p. m.—Street meetings, special music and brief discourses.

Attendance at the various services yesterday indicated a growing interest in the Baptist revival now going on in the Baptist churches of the city. The whole staff of evangelists of the Home Mission Board are well into the work with all the pastors in line and hearty co-operation with the workers. At 10 o'clock today there is to be a "Twentieth Century Special for the Waco Young People" at the First Baptist church. Cards have been placed in the hands of every young person in the city, urging them to attend. Older people will be welcomed and are expected. This promises to be a very attractive service. Tonight there will be no services in the churches. The whole corps of workers, singers and evangelists will hold street meetings. Tomorrow is to be a great day. Special services will be held in all the churches morning and evening. Besides four great rallies have been announced.

Services Yesterday.
Dr. Wright, who is preaching at President Heights, addressed the Baylor students at 9 a. m. yesterday. Mr. Babbitt sang.
The personal workers' class had their last meeting for the week at 9:30. Mr. DeGarmo will resume work with the class again Monday at 9:30 in the lecture room of the First Baptist church.

Evangelist Copess delivered a splendid discourse at the 10 o'clock service. The quartette sang "Rock of Ages" with special effectiveness.

At noon Evangelist Scott spoke at the Katy shops. The singers added much to the delight of the service.

Reports for Last Night.
Pastor Littleton reports an increased attendance at Ross Avenue. Dr. Hale preached on "The Glorified Son." The service was the best yet. There were many interested.

At Seventh and James Evangelist Reese spoke on "The Second Coming of Christ." The attendance was the largest yet this week. Two were received into membership, one being by baptism. The best services so far.

In the young people's meeting at Brook avenue yesterday afternoon there were thirteen professions. In the evening Evangelist DeGarmo preached on "Abraham's Salvation and How He Blessed Others." Mr. and Mrs. Harrell sang a duet, "The Wonderful Story of Jesus." One addition by letter.

Evangelist Scott preached to a larger audience in East Waco Baptist church on "Set Thy House in Order." Sermon was fine and the interest is moving with a rising tide. The jukes choir sang.

At Pin Oak the audience was larger. The evangelist spoke on "Sin." There was one young man who professed and one addition to the church by letter.

The attendance at President Heights was good. Evangelist Wright spoke on "Assurance." Mr. Babbitt sang a very appropriate song. Interest growing.

At Clay Street church Evangelist King delivered a very telling sermon. There were a great many in the afternoon meeting. For workers. The work is very encouraging.

Dr. McConnell reports good meeting at the First church. Music fine. A great junior chorus sang. The audience good. Dr. Bruner preached a good sermon on "Witnessing for Jesus."

Local News Notes

Rev. J. A. Gronland will preach at both services in the Scandinavian Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.
A telephone wire, later crossed with the trolley on South Eighth street was the cause of a $250 fire damage to the residence of J. E. Horne at No. 805 yesterday at 5 o'clock p. m. The added current caused the wire to become heated and set fire to joists between the ceiling of a front room and the floor above. The fire was confined to one room of the house.

Personal Mention

W. L. Smitham, assistant superintendent of motive power of the Katy, was at Badmead yesterday on a tour of inspection.

Big Factory Invites Public to Visit

Most Modern Piece of Machinery That Has Been Made for High Class Work.

Automatic in every movement, exact in its "register" as printers know the term, and speedy in its manufacture, there is in operation at the plant of the Hill Printing & Stationery company a modern piece of machinery that will be interesting to every one to look at, and because of its newness President J. S. Hill of the company invites the public to visit his manufacturing plant on Sixth street between Austin and Franklin today and see it.

In discussing factories in Waco, it is very essential that manufacturing printers and stationers should not be overlooked. In such big plants as the Hill Printing and Stationery company there is a normal employed force of fifty people. This character of labor is of a high standard and it is well paid, the men employed in such work are home owners, tax payers, producers and patrons of home industry. Printers buy at home, they do not patronize the Chicago mail order houses or the stranger who carries but a few days and is gone to the next town. They become substantial citizens because they earn a per diem sufficient to give them comforts as well as necessities of life.

The Hill Printing and Stationery company has a complete factory equipped with the most approved machinery for the output of that which is to be manufactured for the trade which it serves. The latest addition to the plant is the "Autopress," which has just been installed. It gets its power from the electric current, and after that it is automatic. There is an automatic feeder that starts the paper and from that operation through on all the finished product is printed and ready for delivery the action is by machinery alone. It will print in many colors with a correct and true register of every line and every letter, and this is done at the speed of 5,000 an hour, no hands being raised to give assistance. It is more accurate in its work than the feeding of a press by hand, as there is much waste in this process, whereas the Autopress delivers each sheet properly and neatly printed. It will take a sheet as large as six by seven inches in size, or it will print as small as a note head or a card.

The piece of machinery is a marvel of its kind; it is the most recent improvement in printing press manufacture, and so interesting is its work that Mr. Hill extends a cordial invitation to the public to visit the plant and see what it is, how it works and the character of the output.

ATTEND The Big COTTON Convention DALLAS

April 28-May 1

A monster rally that will inaugurate in full effect the campaign for the coming season for a LEGITIMATE VALUE FOR KING COTTON.

Long held in subjugation by the arbitrary hand of "finance," it is proposed now to liberate the fleecy staple from the low price. The plan of the SOUTHERN STATES COTTON CORPORATION is no experiment, but is already in active operation in more than 250 cotton growing counties, and has afforded relief to thousands of farmers.

The convention will be held at the Fair Park Coliseum, and thousands of people in all walks of life will be in attendance.

WANT SKATING RINK

IN COTTON PALACE PARK WHICH WILL PAY MONTHLY RENTAL TO ASSOCIATION.

City is Not Willing to Break Precedent That Everything in Parks Shall Be Free.

Question of whether precedent established by long observance would be broken was brought up before the city commission yesterday, when W. H. Hoffmann, president of the Cotton Palace association, appeared before that body and asked permission for the construction of a skating rink on that part of the Cotton Palace park which belongs to the city.

It has been the custom of the city government to permit no concessions in any of the city parks. This has been strictly adhered to. The Cotton Palace officials have opened negotiations with parties for the construction of a rink in the city's park property at the Palace grounds. The proposal is to erect a building 75x100 feet. The association is to receive a rental of $50 monthly from the owners, and during Cotton Palace a commission of receipts will be given.

The mayor said it had been the unbroken rule of the commission to allow no concessions of any kind for which a charge is made in any of the parks. Mr. Hoffmann recited to the commission that the association was trying to place all improvements possible on the grounds and that they also needed all revenue they could secure. The matter was referred to City Attorney Maxwell and the park commissioner.

COLLIDES WITH BUGGY

W. H. FAGAN IS INJURED WHEN VEHICLE CROWDS HIM TO THE CURB.

Is Thrown From Motorcycle By the Accident—H. C. Harder Has Accident.

W. H. Fagan, residing at 1615 South Fifth street, was thrown from his motorcycle as the result of a collision with a horse and buggy at Fifth and Dutton streets at an early hour last night. As the result of the accident Mr. Fagan received a broken arm and severe bruises, and his machine was considerably damaged. The fracture to the arm is in the elbow joint.

Mr. Fagan does not know who occupied the buggy, as he said the driver never stopped to ascertain the result of the collision. "I was coming north on Fifth street and the buggy was being driven south," said Mr. Fagan. "The driver of the buggy pulled close in to the curb and I could not escape the collision. My machine collided with the horse, I was thrown off and dashed to the curb. I was thrown clear of the machine into the street."

Jim Caldwell, who passed the scene of the accident a short time afterwards, carried the injured man to the offices of Dr. H. T. Ayneworth, where the broken arm was given attention.

H. C. Harder is Injured.

A moment after he had stepped off a street car last night on Austin street at Sixteenth, H. C. Harder was struck by a motorcycle and narrowly escaped serious injury. The motorcycle was traveling very fast. Mr. Harder said, and the rider attempted to pass between him and the car from which he had just alighted. The wheel of the machine struck Mr. Harder on the left side of his body, badly bruising his leg and hip. Dr. R. L. Smith, who attended him, states that the escape from more serious injury was almost miraculous, considering the manner in which he was hit and the extent of the bruises. Mr. Harder was assisted into his house, 1621 Austin, by passers on the car. The rider of the motorcycle did not stop, but parties who witnessed the accident gave the number of the machine to the police. The accident happened about 8 o'clock.

BOYS FEED AT THE PARK

Newsies Are Guests of Thoughtful Folk at Picnic Dinner in South Waco.

The members of the Waco Newsboys club had a jolly, rip-roaring time last night at the expense of a number of thoughtful persons who provided amusement and a genuine "outdoor feed" for the paper vendors, including about forty of the hustling street merchants.

The curtain rose at the club headquarters at the Young Men's Business League rooms with moving pictures to amuse the boys. After taking in the "movies" the boys journeyed to Harston park on Eighth street and were the guests of the Bagby Missionary Society at a picnic dinner, as some of the more polite speaking boys who are more fluent with the English language, would call it in company. But it was hard to convince the newsies that was anything save a "feed." They best evidenced this opinion by wading into the eats with vengeance.

There were buttered sandwiches, veal loaf, boiled eggs, rolls, pickles, cakes and candy on the menu and what the boys didn't eat they reserved somewhere on their person for another meal.

The curtain dropped when Miss Nell Whitman finished telling one of her interesting stories. Those who were interested in giving the entertainment and picnic were Mesdames M. H. Standifer, L. A. Huff, W. H. Davis, G. B. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bowen and Miss Ruth Rogers.

Cincinnati's proposal to tax autos either by straight impost or by increased license fees is meeting much opposition.

Foster Gets the Streets Dollins Fire and Police

Mayor Names the Work of Two New Commissioners. Gives Up Department of Which He Had Charge in Order to Devote His Time to Bigger Things.

John W. Foster, Commissioner of Streets.

John Dollins, Commissioner of Fire and Police.

Hollis Barron, Chief of Police.

Dan Nicholson, Fire Marshal.

These were the nominations presented to the city commission by Mayor Mackey at the morning session yesterday and adopted without a dissenting vote by that body.

Commissioner Tom Caulfield will remain at the head of the finance department, and Commissioner J. A. Littlefield will remain at the head of the sanitary department. Other nominations will be made at the meeting Tuesday morning. These will include city physician, assistant chief of police, members of the police force, the city engineer, members of the engineering department, and members of the fire and street departments.

In the new appointment the supervision of police and fire has been placed in the hands of one man as it is in other cities. In the past the mayor has been in personal charge of the police department, and one of the commissioners in charge of the fire department. At the time nominations were placed the mayor made no comment regarding his reasons for combining the two departments under one head.

Later he said, "There are some big things ahead of Waco for the next few years, and I do not believe the chief executive of the city should be burdened with the supervision of any special department of the city's government, but that he should be free to execute supervision over all departments. I have in mind several things in connection with the city government which demand the attention of the mayor, therefore I combined the fire and police departments under one head. The two departments, fire and police, are closely allied, therefore I added the police department to that of fire. In practically all cities save Waco the two are combined."

With reference to the selection of the street commissioner and the fire and police commissioner, the mayor said, "I nominated Commissioner Foster to have charge of streets because he has had experience in construction work, and I thought him better suited to that department, and I nominated Commissioner Dollins as head of the fire and police departments because he has had experience as city marshal and chief of police, and is best suited to that department in my opinion."

Both the fire marshal and the chief of police were re-elected.

With reference to nominations for assistant chief of police and members of the police force and the various other offices that are to be filled the mayor stated it was his idea to talk these matters over with the new commissioners in order to determine their wishes as to who should be named. "I desire harmony in the conduct of the city's business affairs, therefore I will consult the commissioners in charge of the various departments before making nominations. Of course, I may not select every man whom they suggest, but it is my intention to do so in the main."

ON UNEVEN WALKS PEOPLE ARE HURT

APPROACHES TO GARAGES CAUSE DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST THE CITY.

TO ADOPT A REGULATION

One Claim Has Been Paid and Another Is Pending—City Attorney to Report.

Automobile approaches to garages came in for discussion at the city commission meeting yesterday, and as a result it is probable some action looking to a change in the present regulations in the sidewalks whereon automobiles are run into these shops, will be made.

The question came up when a letter from Dr. B. J. French was read, reporting an accident which occurred April 4 to P. J. Mooney. The physician's letter recited that Mooney received a fractured rib as the result of a fall on the sidewalk caused by stepping into a depression leading to the entrance to a garage just in front of the courthouse. This is the second time within a few months where claims for damages have been asked of the city, by reason of persons falling from stepping into these depressions. The city has expended $7.50 as pay for injuries received in this manner. The question of a remedy proved a difficult one. The city has previously ordered that elevations leading from the street to the sidewalk be discontinued and now that depressions in the walks have become a menace, some solution of the problem equitable to all is sought. The matter was referred to City Attorney John Maxwell, with instructions to advise the chief of police in the matter.

On report that work had begun towards construction of sidewalks on Webster street, the commission authorized the mayor to enter into a contract for the construction of such sidewalks on this street as are the city's part. This consists of a walk over Waco creek.

On recommendation of Finance Commissioner Caulfield, all bids for the work of the city's books were rejected. Mr. Caulfield was instructed to bring in recommendations in the matter.

The question of the disposal of overflow water, which runs from private property on to Columbus and Eighteenth street was brought up but no solution reached.

AD CLUB GETS NEW MEMBERS

Thirty-six Are Added to the Rolls During the Recent Short Campaign.

As the result of a membership campaign of less than six hours thirty-six new members have been added to the rolls of the Ad Club. The club has started a campaign to secure 100 new members.

President W. J. Mitchell said last night he expected no trouble in securing that number. "There are 100 men in Waco who ought to be members of the Ad Club," he said, "and we will get that number and then stop."

Preparations are being made to make the next general meeting of the club the biggest it has yet held. A prominent man in advertising work will be invited to come to Waco and address the club. Arrangements are being made to that end.

LOSES TEMPER IN DISTRICT COURT

C. C. THOMPSON, ADJUDGED IN CONTEMPT, STRIKES OFFICIAL COURT REPORTER.

HE GETS AN ADDITIONAL FINE

Culmination of Divorce Litigation. Admits Was Actuated By Sudden Fit of Anger.

Just as he was leaving the fourth district court room yesterday morning, after having been fined $100 and sentenced to three days in jail for contempt of court, C. C. Thompson of Dawson, Navarro county, farmer and preacher, attacked Hall Etter, official court reporter and his former brother-in-law, and was assessed an additional fine of $100.

Thompson was fined in the original case for violating the provisions of an injunction granted by Judge Richard I. Munroe to Mrs. Thompson, wife of C. C. Thompson, restraining Thompson from interfering with either Mrs. Thompson or their two children. The injunction was granted August 2, 1912, and in November, although contested by Thompson, the injunction was made permanent.

Immediately after the restraining writ was issued Thompson took the two children and led the sheriff's department and Hall Etter, brother of Mrs. Thompson, in a chase in an automobile across the country to Hubbard City. Again in January Thompson was cited for having violated the injunction, and was released after Judge Munroe had admonished the defendant. In the meantime suit for divorce was filed by Mrs. Thompson and on March 6 the decree was granted.

Strikes Court Reporter.

Two weeks ago he called at the Etter home to see the children, and it is alleged he called at an office where his wife is employed. He was again cited for contempt and following a hearing yesterday morning he was fined $100 and sentenced to three days in jail. It was just after hearing the sentence from the judge's lips and as he was passing the official court reporter to reach his hat that the assault was made. Thompson landed a blow with his fist on Etter's face. This was the signal for a general mix up in which the mother of Thompson's wife and others entered. Deputy Lee Jenkins separated the fighters and conducted Thompson to jail. Etter was seated at the time the blow was struck and never got into the fight to any extent.

Story by Thompson.

At the county jail last night Thompson said: "I thought the provisions of the injunction were dissolved, after the divorce. I had not seen the children in two months and heard they were sick and wanted to see them. They are mine and I think I have the moral right to see them. I did not intend to annoy them or my wife, but I wanted to see my children. I consider that Hall Etter has promoted some of my trouble and when I saw him sitting there and the thoughts of all the trouble he had caused me arose in my mind I struck him. I realize I acted too hastily and that I should have kept my temper, but under the circumstances I did not strike before I realized the act. I didn't intend to hit Hall, and in fact never thought of such a thing until all of my troubles rushed upon me as I passed him."

Thompson is a preacher and a farmer. He has been farming in Navarro county and last night said he had bought a farm near San Angelo. A brother, J. Y. Thompson of Hubbard City, reached Waco last night and will assist his brother in an endeavor to have one of the fines remitted. "If we can get one fine remitted we will pay the other," said Thompson last night. "If we can't do this we will secure a writ of habeas corpus."

Thompson said last night that the divorce had been granted without proper service on himself. The divorce was granted on a plea of cruel treatment.

"When my wife left home to come to Waco, she kissed me good bye and was as friendly to me as anyone. It is other people who have separated us. If they had left us alone we would have been living happily today. I have a farm, seven Jersey cows and other stock and was doing well when the trouble came."

Diver Finds Lost Vessel.

Tacoma, Wash., April 18.—The cancer schooner Sadie Geller, lost at sea eighteen years ago, has been called back from the port of missing ships. Walter McCarey of this city, a diver, "stumbled upon the vessel" in sixty feet of water near Chignik harbor, Alaska, recently, and is preparing to take out of the wreck, nearly $50,000 in tin bullion with which she is laden.

It's Results That Bring High Salaries in the Fashioning of Men's Clothing As Well As In the Playing of Baseball

Frank Chance draws the largest salary of any ball player on the diamond because of his ability to "Deliver the Goods." "Stein-Block," whose clothes we are exclusive Waco agents for, pays the man who designs their distinctive styles in Men's Suits the highest salary that is paid to any clothing designer in this country and for the same reason that Frank Chance draws the largest salary in the baseball world—"The Ability to Deliver the Goods."

Waco fans know a good ball player when they see one. Just as discriminating clothes buyers know good clothes. The best dressers are wearing apparel from the greater Sanger Assortments. WE SHOW MEN'S TAILOR MADE CLOTHING READY-TO-BE-WORN; Clothing ready to be put on—yet it is tailor made. The men who receive the highest salaries of any tailors—designers, cutters and finishers—in America tailored the garments we show you here. The fact accounts for the excellence that our Suits possess, the marks that distinguish them from the ordinary ready to wear clothes. These tailors of Sanger Clothes overcome the objections commonly heard against ready-to-be-put-on clothes, and have advanced their art to perfection even beyond the custom tailors' effort; reducing rather than increasing the cost.

SHOOTS SELF IN HEAD

G. H. HAMMONS IS AFFECTED BY THE STRAIN OF OVERWORK.

Had Charge of Outside Construction for the Texas Power and Light Company.

G. H. Hammons, foreman of construction of the Texas Power and Light company, shot himself in the head yesterday morning at 8:15 at the head plant on the west bank of the river. Temporary insanity, caused from overwork, is the supposed cause of the act.

Hammons has had charge of the outside work for the company for six years and the increase of construction that has been done under his direction without added help brought on a nervous breakdown that was first noticed by his co-workers Thursday, when he remarked that the work was driving him crazy.

D. Weaver, who heard the shot, was the first to reach the side of Hammons as he was just gasping his last breath. The shot was fired in the gas container rooms of the plant. The pistol that was used was a .38-caliber in a 45 frame. A note was found, which was placed in the hands of his wife and read yesterday afternoon by her and her daughter and Green Rathell, son of W. S. Rathell, local superintendent of the company. The contents of the note have not been made public. Mrs. Hammons was prostrated by the shock and is under the care of a physician.

Hammons has been employed by the gas company ten years, the last six years as foreman. He was 40 years of age. Besides his duties on the outside he had considerable office work. He is survived by his wife and three children, Beulah, Letha and Henry.

The funeral will take place Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. from the late residence, 1919 Fort avenue.

Pearl Ruby Schilling.

Pearl Ruby Schilling, aged 18, died at 11:30 a. m. yesterday at the residence of her parents, 1428 South Ninth street. Miss Schilling was taken sick about three months ago. The parents moved here from Humble for the purpose of putting her, their only child, in school. Her father, Rev. P. C. Schilling, is a Baptist minister. A short service will be held from the residence this morning, the regular funeral services being conducted at the Seventh and James Street Baptist church at 10 o'clock, Rev. W. W. Melton, officiating.

Miss Ruby Schilling was a member of the senior academy class at Baylor university, and very popular among the students and members of the faculty. She had been a student there for the past two years.

OPEN HOUSE AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Students, Parents and Friends Are Given an Afternoon.

An open house for the students, parents and friends of the Waco High School was held yesterday afternoon in the Auditorium. A program was arranged and between 500 and 600 persons were present. Several numbers were rendered by the Glee club led by Prof. W. M. Craig. Talks were made by Principal E. T. Genheimer and W. E. Darden of the school board. They spoke of the noticeable improvement in the work of the school in the past six years.

After the formal program the visitors were shown over the building. The manual training, laboratories and domestic science departments interested the visitors greatly. The work that is being done in these departments makes a good showing at all times, special exhibits being always prepared for visitors, showing the class of work done.

Home Coming at Denton.

Denton, Tex., April 18.—Many visitors at home coming week celebration of the Texas college of Industrial Arts which opened tonight arrived today. The celebration continues through Monday. Many noted speakers are here including Dr. Brooks of Baylor, Dr. Henry King of Oberlin, Ohio, Miss Irene Myers of Lexington, Ky., President Craighead of Montana university; State Superintendent Bralley and Governor Colquitt are on the program. The opening number tonight was "As You Like It," presented by the middle class girls.
